An Oxfordshire Online Community?

- for whom?
- what will it look like?
- how can you get involved?
- your feedback

People with learning disabilities;

Parents and Carers;

Brothers, sisters and other family members;

Friends;

Volunteers;

People paid to work with or for people with learning disabilities

We are in this all together!

We all want to ensure that people with learning disabilities, people with autism, children with special educational needs and people with related disabilities in Oxfordshire get the best support and opportunities available.

Over the last 12 or so months there have been meetings, interviews, workshops, emails, involving many discussions about how we should develop the website and it's online community.

The following is an example of some notes taken about moderation:

Between us all we have developed our initial community website and forum.

We haven't named it yet – it is still in the testing stage.

Our working title is: Idox.org (you pronounce it a little like Linux!)

Let's take a look at it!
